A Special Message from Former Congressman Bob Barr

"The GOPUSA website cuts through the Internet clutter for the same reason the organization itself cuts through the political clutter in Washington -- it presents solid ideas, by solid conservative thinkers and writers, packaged in a hard-hitting format that is impossible to ignore.

The list of speakers who will be appearing at its first-ever GOPUSA Conservative Conference in Washington is a perfect example of why GOPUSA is one of the most turned-to political organizations around. From best-selling authors like Gary Aldrich to leading pollsters like Kelly Anne Conway, and from key conservative organizers like Grover Norquist to current congressional and White House advisors, those smart enough to attend the Conference will learn what's really going on in Washington and races across the country. Most importantly, they'll learn from the experts how to become a part of making those things happen.

Those at the Conference will truly be at the epicenter of the conservative movement in America."

-- Former Congress Bob Barr
